(1st-4th semester)

ARTISTIC PRINCIPAL STUDY

(1st-4th semester)

Learning content:

In the Advanced Postgraduate Diploma in Music specialising in opera répétiteurship, teaching in the principal study primarily takes the form of individual coaching. At the commencement of the programme, it is assumed that the student possesses a sufficient degree of technical and musical maturity to allow the teaching to focus on the artistic and interpretational aspects of the music and the practical aspects of the profession. A central part of this work is to foster the student's artistic identity, with a view to enabling the student to develop the distinctive qualities that are an essential part of being an opera répétiteur. On the basis of the student's specific talent, the student and the teacher of the principal study jointly organise the repertoire and supplementary disciplines to be studied during the programme, such as conducting, recitative, score playing, sight reading, singing and language.

The teaching is organised in such a way that the student works with teachers who mainly have a background in didactic/teaching work (e.g. at the Academy) or in professional practice (e.g. at an opera house). The study programme is developed and organised on an ongoing basis in close collaboration with the Royal Theatre.

Compulsory internship forms part of the regular teaching in the principal study, in the form of rehearsal procedures in one or more performances of the Royal Danish Opera, as well as participation in selected projects of the Opera Academy and the requirement to be available for sign-up slots for students in the Young Artist Programme of the Opera Academy (see under "Internship").

The student will be assigned a mentor from the Royal Danish Opera at the Royal Theatre who will meet with the student for at least one hour each semester to discuss the student's study progress and professional profile. The mentor may be one of the student's principal study teachers.

To a reasonable extent and at appropriate notice, the student may be summoned by the student's teachers to attend or observe selected rehearsal sessions or examinations at the Royal Danish Opera, the Royal Theatre or the Opera Academy.

To the extent possible, the student may attend classes in the subject in the Master's Programme in Piano Specialising in Répétiteurship at RDAM.
